Direct route

Clean air route

Alternatively, you can take a low-pollution walking route. From Holborn station, follow the direct route to Remnant Street and turn left. Enter the park, take the path on the right, and walk past the tennis courts. Exit the park on the right, and the College will be directly opposite.

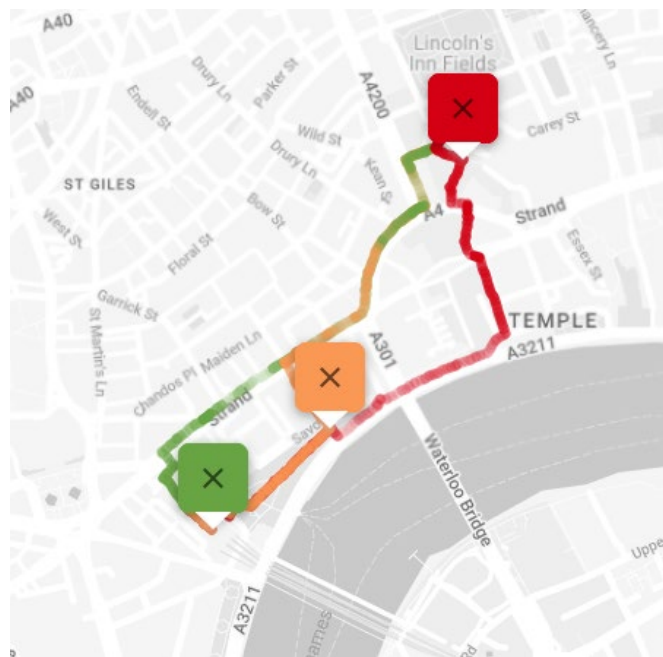

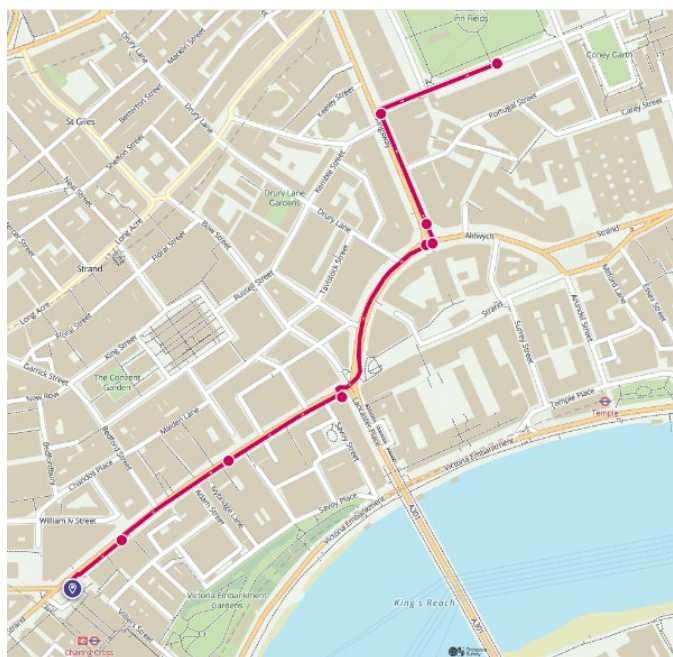

The Cleaner Air Better Business (CABB) project has identified routes in London with 30–60% lower air pollution than main streets.

From Charing Cross station

Here is what you need to know

Your arrival

Upon arrival at the College, our friendly reception team will welcome you and assist with your visit. Enjoy a variety of drinks, snacks, and light lunches at our café near the Portugal Street entrance. Toilets are available on every floor, with ground-floor facilities near the Lincoln's Inn Fields entrance.

Hunterian Museum

The College is home to the Hunterian Museum, which features over 2,000 anatomical preparations from Hunter's collection, instruments, models, paintings, and archives. The museum traces the history of surgery from ancient times to modern robotic operations. It is open Tuesday through Saturday, 10am-5pm.

Fire evacuations

Your safety is our top priority. If you hear the fire alarm, please leave the building using the nearest safe route, indicated by green signs. After leaving the building, please assemble on the College forecourt on Lincoln's Inn Fields. Do not re-enter the building until you receive confirmation that it is safe to do so.

Personal Emergency Evacuation Plan (PEEP)

If during a building evacuation you may require assistance please make sure a Personal Emergency Evacuation Plan (PEEP) is completed by the person organising your visit. This will help ensure that we can provide you with the necessary support should it be required.

First aid

If you need first aid during your visit, please don't hesitate to contact the Reception Team who can request assistance from a designated first aider

Smoking policy

Both the College building and forecourt are designated as no smoking areas.
